

ריינהרד פלנדר
פסלמודיה עברית
מחקר סטרוקטורלי

ירושלים תשנ"ג
הוצאת ספרים ע"ש י"ל מאגנס. האוניברסיטה העברית

CONTENTS

Preface	1
Introduction	3
Terminology	3
Methodology — Hebrew Psalmody and Structuralism	5
Part One: The Written Tradition of Hebrew Psalmody	10
Chapter One: The Psalm Text	10
The Structural Concept of the Text	10
The Book of Psalms in its Historical Development	11
The Recording and Redaction of the Psalms	12
The Earliest Psalms	13
The Davidic Tradition in the Psalms	14
The Influence of the Prophetic Tradition	15
The Return from Captivity	16
Chapter Two: The Poetical Accent System	18
Accentology and Structuralism	20
The Historical Background of the Origin of the Tiberian Masora	21
The Principal Sources for an Interpretation of the Accents	24
Conjunctive Accents	26
Disjunctive Accents	29
Continuous Dichotomy	31
“Eastern Masoretes” and “Western Masoretes”	33
On Methodology in Accentology	37
Chapter Three: The Psalms and the Liturgy	42
The Liturgical Tradition of the Jewish Religion	42

The Earliest Documents of Jewish Liturgy in the Old Testament	45
David as a Leading Figure in Liturgical Thinking	46
Elements of the Temple Liturgy	50
The Adoption of the Psalms in the Liturgy and Synagogue after the Destruction of the Second Temple	51
Part Two: The Oral Tradition of Hebrew Psalmody	55
Chapter One: The Psalms and Jewish Liturgical Music	55
Literary Sources for the Performance Practice of Hebrew Psalmody	57
Early Transcriptions of Hebrew Psalmody	60
Methodology in the Study of Hebrew Psalmody	63
Classification of the Types of Hebrew Psalmody	66
Book Melodies and Prayer Melodies	67
Chapter Two: Project Outline for the Empirical Investigation of the Musical Practice of Hebrew Psalmody	70
The Practical Execution of the Project	72
The Phenomenon of Acculturation	74
The Taped Documents of the Oral Tradition	76
Selection of Informants	77
The Problems of Transcription	78
Chapter Three: Typology of Liturgically Free Psalmody	82
The Relationship between Text and Recitation in Liturgically Free Psalmody	82
The Relationship between Accents and Recitation	86
The Liturgical Occasion for Book Psalmody	95
The Performance Practice of Book Psalmody in some Oriental Jewish Congregations	97
Yemenite Choral Psalmody	110
Chapter Four: Liturgical Psalmody	116
The Relationship between Text, Accents and Liturgy	116
The Performance Practice of Liturgical Psalmody	125
The Three Festivals Psalmody	127
Lamentation Psalmody	131

Glossary 139

Bibliography 141

Appendix: List of Music Examples

Example 1: Psalm 19, Morocco (NSA Y 1692)

Example 2: Psalm 57, Morocco (NSA Y 3251)

Example 3: Psalm 1, Djerba (Da = NSA Y 3253; Db = NSA Y 3252; Dc = Lachmann 1978, p. 108-109)

Example 4: Psalm 1, Babylonia and “Oriental Sephardi” (Ba = NSA Y 268; Bb = NSA Y 501; Si = Hom, IV, no. 322)

Example 5: Psalm 24, Kurdistan (Ka = NSA Y 3253; Kb = NSA Y 3254)

Example 6: Psalm 1, Yemen (NSA Y 1692, 11-12)

Example 7: Psalm 24, a) Djerba (NSA Y 3253); b) Kurdistan (NSA Y 3254)

Example 8: Psalm 104, Yemen (NSA Y 3254)

Example 9: Psalm 29, Morocco (NSA Y 1692)

Example 10: Psalm 92, Kurdistan (NSA Y 3254)

Example 11: Psalm 92, a) Djerba (NSA Y 3253); b) Kurdistan (NSA Y 3253); c) Persia (NSA Y 1692)

Example 12: Psalm 113, Yemen (NSA Y 1692; S[oloist] and C[ongregation])

Example 13: Psalm 113, Yemen (NSA Y 1692)

Example 14: Psalm 1, Yemen (NSA Y 1692)

Example 15a: Psalm 107, Yemen (NSA Y 1692)

Example 15b: Psalm 107, Yemen, Sharab (NSA Y 3253)

Example 16: Psalm 92, Morocco, Tetuán